FORENSIC MEDICINE

Foreword

To the Editors,
Case Western Reserve Journal of International Law

Dear Sirs:

This will acknowledge your letter advising that the Case Western Reserve Journal of International Law will begin the publication of a regular feature on the international and comparative law aspects of forensic medicine.

I congratulate you on this new and valuable service which will be provided to members of the bar, the medical profession, and students of medicine and law. The publication of such a journal on a regular basis will fill a gap in the present availability of literature, and is in keeping with the exchange of information on an international basis that has been all too limited heretofore.

I wish you every success and trust that your publication will find wide interest.
