EDITORS' PREFACE

This issue is the Review's sixth annual Symposium on Federal Taxation. The articles are based on lectures presented in November 1963, at the Annual Cleveland Regional Tax Institute sponsored by the Cleveland Bar Association with the cooperation of the Western Reserve Law School and the Cleveland Bar Foundation.

The Symposium covers the areas of Dealings Between Related Taxpayers, Business Acquisitions, and Selected Close Corporation Problems. Although the Institute occurred prior to enactment of the Revenue Act of 1964, the authors generally have incorporated the 1964 amendments to the Internal Revenue Code. While the contributors are recognized as leading tax specialists in northern Ohio, it is intended that their articles will be valuable to the general practitioner as well as to the tax attorney.

The Review's staff thanks its contributors for preparing the articles and for their cooperation while these articles were processed for publication. The staff is especially grateful to Harold E. Friedman of the Tax Institute Publications Committee for his efforts in the preparation and editing of this symposium.
